

A House is Not, a Home is Not, a House, a Home...

Hosted by: Architectural Design @ Gerrit Rietveld Academie

Project Information (EN)

Description

With these lyrics from "A House Is Not A Home," Luther Vandross speaks to a meaning of home that is based more upon notions of romance, separation, and lost love than a physical structure or piece of architecture. Home is built upon relationships, memory, warmth, emotion. Our presence gives an inanimate setting life and vibrance. Once this relationship has ended, home is no longer home. It becomes a cold space devoid of love, warmth, or human touch. The house, conversely, is a space of potential. It is a framework for a home to come into being. It becomes infused with meaning and value. How does house become home? How does home become house? With "A House is Not, a Home is Not, a House, a Home...", first and second year students from the Gerrit Rietveld Academie's Architectural Design department reflect on, represent, and redesign the fluid, shifting, dynamic, and intimate relations between house and home. The installation houses a series of diverse material works that articulate an understanding of a collective home.

Projectinformatie (NL)

Description

With these lyrics from "A House Is Not A Home," Luther Vandross speaks to a meaning of home that is based more upon notions of romance, separation, and lost love than a physical structure or piece of architecture. Home is built upon relationships, memory, warmth, emotion. Our presence gives an inanimate setting life and vibrance. Once this relationship has ended, home is no longer home. It becomes a cold space devoid of love, warmth, or human touch. The house, conversely, is a space of potential. It is a framework for a home to come into being. It becomes infused with meaning and value. How does house become home? How does home become house? With "A House is Not, a Home is Not, a House, a Home...", first and second year students from the Gerrit Rietveld Academie's Architectural Design department reflect on, represent, and redesign the fluid, shifting, dynamic, and intimate relations between house and home. The installation houses a series of diverse material works that articulate an understanding of a collective home.

Image List

Filename	Caption	Credit
house-home-electric-system-research_1631200441.jpg

The images above are included in the ZIP under /images.