

Straw Return

Project Information (EN)

About the Collaboration

Straw Return is a co-creation project between Eleni Karagiannidou of staramaki S.A. and Belgian designer Isaac Monté, that blends artistic exploration with sustainable manufacturing.

Drawing on his long-standing artistic practice with waste-derived materials, Isaac brought a vision of transformation that bridges aesthetics, sustainability and storytelling.

Eleni, architect, with a deep understanding of staramaki’s processes and impact model, coordinated the integration ensuring circularity in business and strategy.

Together, they shaped Straw Return into a model of artistic experimentation and industrial innovation that unlocks regenerative potential from agricultural residues in the form of acoustic panels and bale bricks.
