Sacred geometry, an ancient language of the universe...

Sacred geometry, an ancient language of the universe, resonates within each of us on a subconscious level. Its patterns are woven into the fabric of nature, echoed in the intricate formations of flowers, the cosmic dance of planets, and the very structure of our bodies. This installation aims to awaken this innate familiarity, reminding us that we are all part of a grand design, intricately interconnected at every level.

In the midst of this display, the viewer assumes the role of the "U" in U-niverse.

It is through your individual perception and self-awareness that the world around you takes shape. By recognizing this inherent power to see and create, you become an integral part of the interconnected tapestry of existence. "You are the U in U-niverse" prompts you to ponder the significance of your own viewpoint and its influence on the reality you experience. As you move around the space, your perspective constantly shifts, revealing new dimensions and facets of the artwork. Just as the observer's viewpoint shapes the experience, so too does each individual bring their unique background and perceptions to the work. U in U-NIVERSE encourages to embrace this diversity of viewpoints, urging you to reflect on the act of reflection itself. With this work the artist beckons you to confront the paradoxes of existence and embrace the multitude of perspectives that weave together the web of life. By embracing the diversity of thought and experience, we expand our understanding of the world and ourselves.
